NOTES IN SEASON.

THE Book Branch of the H. B. Claffin Co.,
New York, has made arrangements with The Macmillan Company for the exclusive sale of a cheap edition, bound in paper, of Maurice Hewlett's successful story "The Forest Lovers." The edition is limited (?) to 100,000 copies, and will be ready for distribution on April 1.

D. APPLETON & Co. announce "The Care and Feeding of Children," by Dr. L. Emmett Holt, in a new and revised edition; also, a Teacher's edition of Frank M. Chapman's "Bird-Life," containing an appendix of new matter, and a "Teacher's Manual," by the same author, to accompany portfolios of colored plates showing birds of various seasons, of which three are ready. "Uncle Sam's Soldiers," by O. P. Austin, will appear in the Home-Reading Books.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued volume XII of their Biographical edition of Thackeray's works, containing "Denis Duval,"

"The Wolves and the Lamb," "Lovel the Widower," and "Roundabout Papers." Mrs.
Ritchie, in her introduction to the volume treats of the years 1860 to 1863, and includes a hitherto unpublished chapter of "Denis Duval." They have also ready "The Capsina," a new novel of E. F. Benson, which may be looked upon as a sequel to his beautiful Grecian story entitled "The Vintage," dealing with the Greek war of 1820-23; also "The River Syndicate," by Charles E. Carryl, a volume of short stories, many of which have already received high praise.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE Co. have just issued
"With Sampson Through the War," by W. A.
M. Goode, with contributed chapters by Rear-Admiral Sampson, Captain Robley D. Evans, and Commander C. C. Todd; "How to Plan the Home Grounds," by S. Parsons, Jr., formerly Superintendent of Parks, New York City, with illustrations by W. E. Spader; "A Voyage to the Moon," by the real Cyrano de Bergerac, with introduction and notes by Curtis Hidden Page, of Columbia University; "The Minister of Carthage," by Caroline Atwater Mason, illustrated by C. M. Relyea; and "Black Douglas," a stirring romance of Scotland in the fifteenth century, by S. R. Crockett, who has worked upon this powerful story for more than ten years.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in press for immediate publication "Men's Tragedies," a volume of short stories dealing with "the real-isms of idealists—strong, high, pure, and desolate men"; and "The Short Line War," a Western railroad story by Merwin Webster. The "American Art Annual," edited by Florence N.
Levy, will contain a complete record of painters, their works for 1898, the reports of art museums, art schools, galleries, societies, and foreign exhibitions, upwards of ninety-three half-tone reproductions of pictures of the year, portraits, etc. Other features of interest in the Annual will be directories of artist-artisans and art dealers, together with a list of art books and magazines of the year. An important addition to the ever-increasing literature of electricity is the popular, practical, and fully illustrated handbook by Percy E. Scrutton, entitled "Electricity in Town and Country."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready
"How to Know the Ferns," by Frances Theodora Parsons, author of their wonderfully successful "How to Know the Wild Flowers," illustrated by Marion Satterlee and Alice J.
Smith; "Anton Seidl," a memorial by his friends, with portraits and illustrations, which, published in the week of the great Seidl memorial performance at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City, should sell the 1000 copies, to which the edition is limited, almost at sight; and "St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans," a practical exposition by Rev. Dr.
Charles Gore, the celebrated editor of "Lux Mundi"; "The Confounding of Camelia," by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, author of "The Dull Miss Archinard," a new novel of English life, is also ready; and "Sweethearts and Wives," stories of life in the navy, by Anna A. Rogers, has been added to the Ivory Series. A sixth edition of Pilcher's "First Aid to the Injured" is also just issued.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

*Allen, H. C., M.D. Keynotes and characteristics; with comparisons of some of the leading remedies of the materia medica. Phil., Boericke & Tafel, 1898. 179 p. 12°, cl., $1.25. [798]

Ansorge, W. J. Under the African sun: a description of native races in Uganda, sporting adventures and other experiences; il. from photographs by the author. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1899. 10+355 p. il. 2 col. pl. O. cl., $5. [799]

Professor Ansorge is late senior professor at the Royal College of Mauritius and medical officer to Her Majesty's government in Uganda. He took the journey over the old caravan route from Mombasa to Uganda six times, and spent a year in the more remote parts of Africa known as Unyoro, crossing Lake Albert four times. In the appendix Mr. Ernest Hartert, director of the Tring Museum, has given an interesting account of the author's collection of African birds. Hon. Walter Rothschild contributes a description of some new species of African lepidoptera.

*Atlantic reporter, v. 41. Permanent ed. Sept. 21, 1898-Jan. 18, 1899. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1899. 22+1192 p. O. (National reporter system, state ser.) shp., $4. [800]

Contains all the reported decisions of the supreme courts of Me., N. H., Vt., R. I., Conn., and Pa.; court of errors and appeals, court of chancery, and supreme and prerogative courts of N. J.; supreme court, court of chancery, superior court, court of general sessions, and court of oyer and terminer of Del., and court of appeals of Md. With tables of Atlantic cases published in v. 1, Marvel's (Del.) reports; 55, N. J. equity reports; 60, N. J. law reports; 186, Pa. state reports. A table of statutes construed is given in the index.

*Beautiful and quaint designs in leaden glass: entitled A book of sundry draughtes, principally serving for glaziers, and not impertinent for plasterers and gardeners; besides sundry other professions, where unto is annexed how to anniel in glass, and also the true forme of the fornace and secretes thereof. London, printed in Shodane, at the signe of the Faulcon, by Walter Dight, 1615. (Facsimile.) N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 4°, velum, net, $2.40. [801]

*Beckx, Rev. P. Manual of the sodality; containing the rules of the sodality of the Blessed Virgin; tr. from the Latin. [Also] New translation of the Little office of the immaculate conception A. M. D. G.; with the litanies of Jesus and the Blessed Virgin and prayers; ed. of 1890 printed from new pls. St. Louis, Mo., B. Herder, 1899. 416 p. 12°, cl., 40 c. [802]

Belloc, Hilaire. Danton: a study. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 11+440 p. por. O. cl., $2.50. [803]

The first biography in English of the great French revolutionary leader founded on original documents. Mr. Belloc, latescholar of Balliol College, Oxford, deals only with known facts—facts that may be proved; he has by this method painted a vivid and true picture of Danton, and described the character of the period in which he was a central figure. An appendix supplements the narrative, embodying much collateral information.

Benson, E. F. The Capsina: a historical novel; il. by G. P. Jacomb-Hood. N. Y., Harper, 1899. c. 3+333 p. D. cl., $1.50. [804]

In a measure a sequel to "The vintage," but can be read independently. The heroine of that book has now become the wife of Mitsos, who has been singled out by Nicholas Vidalis as a worker and leader in the struggles against the Turks, 1819-1822, in the efforts of Greek patriots for independence. The heroine is the head of the historic clan of Capsas, known as the Capsina, a wonderfully strong character. She refused marriage and devoted herself to her father's trade of shipbuilding. She built and fitted out ships to war against the Turk, sailed them herself through dangers from the elements and from brutal enemies, climbed mountains where only goats could go, managed intrigues, etc., etc., and was all woman in her love for Mitsos. When she knew he was married she vowed vengeance on his wife, but was conquered by his child.

Bergerac, Savinien-Hercule. Cyrano de. A voyage to the moon. N. Y., Doubleday & McClure Co., 1899. c. 30+219 p. por. S. (Ladies' Home Journal lib. of fiction.) cl., net, 50 c. [805] Rostand's epoch-making play of "Cyrano de Bergerac" is founded on events in the life of Cyrano de Bergerac, who lived from 1620 to 1655, and on his imaginative work, "A voyage to the moon," which was published in France a year after his death in 1656, and of which there have been three English translations. The present one, by A. Lovell, appeared in 1887, and the original title-page is given in the book. It is an imaginative narrative of a trip to the moon, describing the inhabitants of that planet, their strange customs, etc. Curtis Hidden Page, of Columbia University, gives a biographical sketch of Cyrano de Bergerac, swash-buckler, hero, poet, and philosopher, who was of noble family and richer in titles than estates.

*Birrell, Augustine. Sir Frank Lockwood: a biographical sketch. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. 226 p. 12°, cl., $4.20. [806]

Blakeney, Rob. A boy in the Peninsular war; the services, adventures, and experiences of Robert Blakeney, subaltern in the 28th Regiment: an autobiography; ed. by Julian Sturgis. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1899. 18+282 p. map. O. cl., $4. [807]

The Robert Blakeney of these memoirs was born in Galway in 1789, joined the 28th English Regiment of infantry in 1804, left it in 1828. He died in 1858, in his seventieth year. This volume, which reads like a romance, is a spirited picture of an English soldier's life during the Peninsular war, with the allied armies against Napoleon's generals. Blakeney describes the retreat through Spain to Corunna with Sir John Moore, and a vivid and touching account of that great general's heroic death is given, also a dramatic account of the battle of Barossa, and the siege and storming of Badajoz.

Blow, Susan E. Letters to a mother on the philosophy of Froebel. N. Y., Appleton, 1899. c. 18+311 p. D. (International education ser., no. 45.) cl., $1.50. [808]

The philosophy of Froebel is here explained in language addressed to the general public. The author takes up the most important doctrines one after the other as they were developed in the Mutter und Kose

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

Lieder, and shows their equivalents in the different systems of thought that prevail. In some cases these systems are in harmony with Froebel, and in other cases there is profound disagreement.

Bonehill, Ralph. When Santiago fell; or, the war adventures of two chums. N. Y., The Merghon Co., [1899.] c. 6+280 p. il. D. (Flag of freedom ser., no. 1.) cl., $1. [809]

"When Santiago fell," while a complete story in itself, forms the first volume of the Flag of Freedom Series for boys. The time covered is the last year of the Cuban-Spanish war and our own campaign leading up to the fall of Santiago.

*Borgmeyer, C. L., ed. American corporation legal manual: a compilation of the essential features of the statutory law regulating the formation, management, and dissolution of general business corporations in America, [etc.]; patent, trade-mark, and copyright laws of the world, [etc.] V. 7, 1899, [to Jan. 1, 1899.] Plainfield, N. J., The Corporation Legal Manual Co., 1899. c. 8+1238+33 p. O. shp., $4.50. [810]

Bossuet, Jacques Benigne, (Bp.) Devotion to the Blessed Virgin; being the substance of all the sermons for Mary's feasts throughout the year; condensed, arranged, and tr. by F. M. Capes; with introd. by the Rev. W. T. Gordon. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1899. 12+150 p. D. cl., $1. [811]

Boyer, C. C. Principles and methods of teaching: a manual for normal schools, reading circles, and the teachers of elementary, intermediate, and higher schools. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1899. 393 p. O. cl., $1.50. [812]

The treatise is divided into three parts—"Psychology," "Principles of teaching," and "Methods of teaching." There is a list of reference books for collateral reading (4 p.). The author is professor of pedagogics, Keystone State Normal School, Kutztown, Pa., and author of "Concrete psychology."

*Bradford, Gamaliel. The lessons of popular government. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1899. 2 v., 19+526; 12+590 p. 8°, cl., $4. [813]

*Bradford, T. Lindsley. History of the Homœopathic medical college of Pennsylvania: the Hahnemann medical college and hospital of Philadelphia. Phil., Boericke & Tafel, 1898. 904 p. 8°, cl., $3.50. [814]

Brown, W. Harvey. On the South African frontier: the adventures and observations of an American in Mashonaland and Matabeleland. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1899. c. '90. 20+430 p. map, il. O. cl., $3. [815]

This work is a narrative of the author's experiences and observations, partly as naturalist of an expedition sent by the United States Government in 1889 to the west coast of Africa, but mainly as collector, big-game hunter, gold-seeker, land-owner, citizen, and soldier, during seven years' participation in the settlement and early development of Rhodesia. It treats variedly of travel, collecting, hunting, prospecting, farming, scouting, fighting. It throws a few sidelights on pioneer life. Two chapters are devoted to ethnology. The race problems which arise during the stage of transition from barbarism to civilization are discussed to some extent, as well as the agricultural and mineral resources of Rhodesia, and the possibilities of that region as a future field for immigration and commercial enterprise.

Burgh, A. de. Elizabeth Empress of Austria: a memoir. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1899. 5-384 p. pors. il. O. cl., $2.50. [816]

A conventional biography of the late Empress of Austria, which presents her as Princess of Bavaria, as Empress Elizabeth, as Queen of Hungary, as a woman, philanthropist, friend, and mistress, as a student and reader, as an architect, sportswoman, traveller, as the cousin of King Ludwig II. of Bavaria, as Mater Dolorosa, etc. Her assassination is described, and some anecdotes and reminiscences given relating to her. The volume is richly illustrated from photographs taken from life, many of which were never before made public.

*Burnett, Ja. Compton, M.D. The change of life in women and the ills and ailments incident thereto. Phil., Boericke & Tafel, 1898. 185 p. 12°, cl., $1. [817]

Dix, Beulah Marie. Hugh Gwyeth: a Roundhead cavalier. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1899. c. 4+376 p. D. cl., $1.50. [832]

The hero was the son of a royalist father and the daughter of a stern Puritan Roundhead. He was brought up in the household of his grandfather and in his early youth heard many derogatory things spoken of his father. When sixteen years old he determined to seek his father. After joining the followers of Charles I. he was obliged to take care of horses and perform menial duties of all kinds. When he first met his father he was rejected by him. The fortunes of war enabled him to defend his father's name and he was advanced to soldier's ranks. Prince Rupert, the nephew of Charles I., appears in the story, which is historically correct and intended specially for young men.

Fisher, Mrs. Arabella Burton Buckley. The fairyland of science. [New rev. ed.] N. Y., Appleton, 1899. c. 8+252 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [834]

This edition is considerably enlarged over previous editions; more or less extended notices of the latest scientific discoveries in the departments treated have been added, and certain portions which have grown in importance and interest since the first publication of the work, more than twenty years ago, have been amplified with fuller details. A careful revision has, as far as practicable, eliminated all errors and also all words which, on account of their almost exclusive use in England, are not likely to be easily understood by children in the United States; American instead of English examples are also given, to illustrate statements of general scientific truths. The work has been largely re-illustrated.

Force, Manning Ferguson. General Sherman. N. Y., Appleton, 1899. c. 7+353 p. por. il. D. (Great commanders ser.) cl., $1.50. [835]

Contents: Ante-bellum; The beginning of the war; The battle of Shiloh; From Corinth to Memphis; The Mississippi movement; Vicksburg campaign; Chattanooga and Meridan; Military division of the Missisissippi; Campaign of Atlanta; Campaign of October—development of the march to the sea; The march to the sea; The Carolinas; The end of the war; Post-bellum. The author was one of Sherman's division commanders, and accompanied him in the Atlanta campaign and in the march to the sea. The account of the battle of Shiloh is said to be the most accurate and complete yet published. There are eight carefully executed maps of the general's most important battle-fields.

The hero is deserted by his mother, when only three weeks old, in a London lodging-house. He is adopted by the woman who keeps the house, receives a good education, enters the army and wins the Victoria cross. The mystery of his real mother's life is finally revealed, and her reasons for deserting him. Middle-class English life and fashionable life, with scenes from a soldier's life, are described, and form the background to the hero's story.

in chronological order, and for the first time on such a scale in English, the chief voyages and explorations by which our knowledge of the world has been increased, and the chief works in which that knowledge has been recorded. In the body of the work I have then attempted to connect together these facts in their more general aspects. In particular I have grouped the great voyages of 1492-1521 round the search for the Spice Islands as a central motive."

The scene is laid at Fort Worth, Texas, the time being the winter of '70 and '71, "as black and dreary a time as ever the army knew, for Congress had telescoped forty-five regiments into half the number, and blasted all hopes of promotion—about the only thing the soldier has to live for." The novel deals with army life and army men, and has the usual amount of love.

Under the name of Antichrist the author describes the many miracles of progress and invention that all make for the material happiness of this world. The new socialism especially, of which the chief prophets are atheists, agnostics, or pagans, is shown to be a failure, because it is of this world only, bestowing upon people only that of which change of circumstances and other vicissitudes may rob them. The soul, the hope, the courage of the world is sacrificed to greed and tangible riches. The form of fiction lays the scene in Sicily, and all the legends and superstitions of the populace are used with skill. The lesson is that man was not created for personal happiness, but to leave the world a holier place.

Under cover of a pretty love-story there is an arraignment of the clergy who still seek place, reputation, and power, always ready to hear a "call" from the centres of prosperity and cultivation, changing from parish to parish for wholly selfish reasons, totally forgetful of "the cumulative effect of a long pastorate, where there is undivided sympathy between pastor and people." The methods of the churches for securing pew-filling preachers are also frankly stated.

A learned and enthusiastic theorist contends that the world is flat and induces the London Company to send out a ship to search for an island of which he has seen a mirage upon the heavens. A young man who has every mental, moral, and physical qualification imaginable is detailed to take care of the learned explorer. The island is found and proves to be inhabited by a race speaking English and thoroughly posted on all matters. The women rule the men and make slaves of them. Twice a year the virgins choose husbands. This custom brings about the circumstances of the plot.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 25, 1899.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

APROPOS OF A BOOK-TRADE REFORM.

WE do not suppose that the correspondent whose communication is printed elsewhere in this issue would be willing to admit that condoning two wrongs establishes a right; yet that seems to be the line on which he desires to convince us that we were in error in taking the stand we did in the article referred to. If the number of booksellers who trespass on the good nature of the publishers in the manner described in the article, "Leakage in Publishing Expenses" (printed in our issue for February 4,) grows so large as to cause them loss—and in one case the leakage traced showed an actual loss already so significant as to threaten to become in a short time a serious burden—the offenders must be brought to book, and no reasonable man will object to the punitive process. Contrariwise, if there are publishers who impose onerous burdens on booksellers and cause them to be losers thereby, the bookseller, on his part, is justified in adopting measures that will protect him and secure him against loss. Especially ought the bookseller to be protected against the newspaper men, who compete with him in selling their editorial copies—though, as a matter of fact, the booksellers, in many places, compound this evil-doing by encouraging editors to sell to them the review copies for which they may have no use.

In discussing trade abuses we are well aware that the right is not all on one side and the wrong all on the other side. Reform will never be possible until each side is willing to meet the other, and frankly and dispassionately state its grievances, and point out in what manner a cure seems possible. There has been in the past too much discussion at cross purposes, which has led to nothing, because there was nothing tangible to lead up to. It is, unfortunately, a fact that there are many so-called booksellers who take it for granted that the publisher is their natural enemy, and so have no compunction in despoiling him whenever the opportunity offers. Why wonder, then, if occasionally retaliation follows? Of course, the innocent very often suffer with as well as for the guilty; but when the matter is brought home to the right party a discrimination is invariably and speedily made. And so it will be found to be in the cases in point. The conscientious and efficient bookseller will not likely be affected by the rule in question, and the publisher, when his attention is called to the burden which he places upon the bookseller who is ready to be obliging in small matters, will no doubt afford relief at once without being coerced by any new or ingenious practice on the part of the bookseller.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' COPYRIGHT LEAGUE.

THE annual meeting of the American Publishers' Copyright League was held on March 17 at the Aldine Club, the president, W. W. Appleton, in the chair. In the absence of the treasurer, Charles Scribner, the treasurer's report was read by Arthur Scribner. The balance in the treasury was sufficient to show that the work of the League could be carried on, excepting in connection with any exceptional outlays for legal expenses, without any addition to the present dues.

The report of the secretary, George Haven Putnam, presented a brief summary of the action taken by the Executive Committee and by the secretary and the counsel of the League under the general authority confided to them, through the preceding twelve months. Such action had, in the main, been devoted to the heading off of various attempts that had been made during the year to undermine or to hamper by so-called "amendments" the copyright system of the country. It appeared as if there was hardly a month during any time in which Congress was in session in which some measure had not been presented, the purpose of which was inimical to the interests of the producers of copyrighted property. The secretary reported that, in addition to the necessity for such watchfulness and frequent individual effort in Washington, there had been occasion for continued correspondence with American publishers and authors in regard to the status in England and on the Continent of American productions, and an increasing amount of correspondence with publishers and authors on the Continent who were interested in learning what rights, if any, could be secured in the United States for literature produced on the other side of the Atlantic. The secretary found occasion, in connection with this correspondence, and in connection also with action that had been taken in Berlin and with an increasing series of criticisms in Paris, again to call attention to the inadequacy of the protection afforded by the existing American law for works originally issued in languages other than English. The requirement that the English version should be issued in the United States not later than the date of its issue in the country of origin, and the further requirement that the American edition must be printed from type set within the limits of the United States, had the result of rendering it impracticable to secure the protection of American copyright for works of French, German, Italian or Spanish authors which were not sufficiently assured of an American market to warrant the expense of putting into type and printing in the United States an edition in the original language in addition to that planned for in English. Such a requirement could be met only in the case of a very exceptional work by an author for whose writings a large circle of American readers was certainly waiting. For the books which did not warrant the expense of a special American edition in the foreign language, the American copyright was forfeited. Any particular English version could be protected, but the original still remained free for appropriation by unauthorized translators. The risk of such competition stood in the way of the publication of American editions of Continental works which, if they could have been safely controlled on behalf of the owners of the copyright, would have given every prospect of remunerative returns.

The most serious assault upon the existing copyright system had been made, as above stated, during the last days of the session of Congress, in connection with the General Appropriation Bill. It had been attempted to fasten upon this bill a "rider" prescribing that no work should secure the protection of American copyright which had not been put into type and manufactured according to a standard to be set by the Government, and to be passed upon or verified by the Librarian of Congress. This provision had actually passed the House at the time that information first came to the secretary. Prompt action on the part of Charles Henry Butler, the temporary counsel appointed for this purpose, and authorized (by telephone) to represent the League before the Appropriation Committee of the Senate, secured the throwing out by the Senate Committee of the "rider" in question. Two or three days later, the matter came before the Conference Committee, to which committee a brief was submitted presenting the argument of the League against the measure. The "rider" was thereupon thrown out by the Conference Committee. The attempt was, however, serious, as an example of the class of hasty and ill-judged legislation to which the copyright system has so continually been exposed. The secretary pointed out that whenever the time might come for carrying into effect a plan that had been more than once talked over, for an appointment of a commission of experts which should be charged with the task of putting into shape a consistent and effective copyright measure, it would be necessary to refer to such commission all individual suggestions for the modification of the existing law. Even if the work of the commission had no other satisfactory result, the existence of such a commission would be serviceable as minimizing the risk of individual action in regard to copyright. This had been the experience of all the other countries possessing copyright systems, and in all of these countries the existing copyright legislation was based upon reports framed by commissions of experts appointed for the purpose.

The secretary reported finally that the Executive Committee had taken preliminary action in appointing as delegates to the International Conference of Publishers,* which was to be held in London in June, the president, the secretary, and the treasurer. He suggested that as but one of the three would probably be able to be in London at the date of the conference, the number of delegates should be added to by the appointment of R. R. Bowker, of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, who would be a valuable representative of the League, and who expected to be in London at the date mentioned.

After the completion of the secretary's report, the election was held for officers for the ensuing year, with the result that the present officers and members of the Executive Committee were re-elected: President, W. W. Appleton; vice-president, J. Henry Harper; treasurer, Charles Scribner; secretary, George Haven Putnam; Executive Committee (in addition to the above specified officers), Craig Lippincott, Henry Holt, A. F. Houghton, Dana Estes, F. H. Dodd, and Albert Smith.

It was further voted to confirm the action taken by the Executive Committee in the appointment of delegates to the International Conference of Publishers, and R. R. Bowker was added to the delegation. On the motion of Mr. Bowker, it was voted that the secretary be authorized to confer with the representatives of the American Authors' Copyright League with reference to the desirability of bringing about the appointment of a copyright commission. No action was authorized on the part of the secretary, but he was instructed to report to the Executive Committee the result of his conference.

In response to the request of the secretary for general instructions in regard to action to be taken at the London Conference, it was decided that no formal instructions were requisite. An informal discussion brought out a substantial harmony of view in regard to certain questions that were likely to come before the Conference, such as the relations between the American publishers and the Canadian market, etc. The question was raised as to the information that was to be given to the Continental publishers, who were particularly interested in behalf of themselves and their authors in regard to the possibility of better protection for Continental books in this country. On a motion of Mr. Bowker the following resolution was adopted to cover this point:

RESOLVED, That the American Publishers' Copyright League is in favor of such modification of the existing copyright law as may secure for works in foreign languages a reasonable extension of time after the deposit (as required by the provisions of the statute) of a copy of the original edition in the office of the Librarian of Congress simultaneously with its publication in the country of origin, for the publication of an authorized copyrighted translation of the same.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE ALDINE ASSOCIATION.

ON April 1 the Aldine Club will, as the New York Tribune puts it, "recover its birthright." On that date the Uptown Association with which the Aldine merged its identity about a year ago will yield precedence to the older organization, and thereafter the consolidated clubs will be officially known as the Aldine Association.

The Aldine Club was incorporated ten years ago through an act of the legislature, the passage of which was secured by William W. Appleton, Henry C. Bunner, George R. Cathcart, Charles E. Merrill, James F. Ruggles, Frank H. Scott, Arthur H. Scribner, Henry F. Thomas, and John S. Wood. Despite the by-laws, which state that the club was founded to encourage literature and art, it really sprang from a desire on the part of publishers in the vicinity of Lafayette Place for a congenial place in which to lunch and talk shop.

The club found a home in one of the old-time mansions near the Astor Library, and remodelled it into a unique and picturesque abode, which soon became known as one of the distinctive institutions of the city. Its membership included men of varied cleverness. Its dinners and receptions to distinguished men of letters, travel and science were always noteworthy. In Lafayette Place were entertained Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Stanley, Lieutenant Robert E. Peary, Ian Maclaren, A. Conan Doyle, Mr. Barrie, W. D. Howells, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Thomas Nelson Page, and Dr. Weir Mitchell. The club's last dinner in its first home was given in honor of Dr. Edward Everett Hale.

In 1894 a change came over Lafayette Place. Publishers began to move uptown. In their wake went the Aldine. A second home was found in the Kensington Hotel, at Fifteenth Street and Fifth Avenue. The entire first floor and basement were leased. The grill-room of the Lafayette Place house was removed bodily to the new quarters, and it never seemed to be quite at home. From the Kensington the Aldine moved to the Constable Building. The Uptown Association was incorporated in 1895. The incorporators were John W. Atkins, William Schickel, William Baumgarten, Charles T. Cooke, H. Blanchard Dominick, Edward P. Hatch, Charles Scribner, John Sloane, Isaac Stern, and Isidor Straus. Its first president was John Sloane.

Both clubs finding it difficult to meet expenses the Uptown Association proposed to the Aldine, in January, 1897, that they consolidate. The association offered to buy the chattels of the Aldine and share with it their spacious quarters in the Constable Building. The proposition was accepted, and about one hundred and fifty members of the Aldine went over, while forty or fifty took the opportunity to withdraw. The consolidation was made with the implied understanding that as soon as certain legal restrictions could be removed the organization should be known as the Aldine Association. As a matter of fact, the Aldine Club, under the title of the Uptown Association, has never ceased to be identified in the popular mind with the original name.

The club-rooms occupy the entire twelfth floor of the Constable Building. It covers an area of one hundred by two hundred feet. To the right of the onyx-wainscoted entrance-hall is the library, hung in ochre burlap, and full of curious prints, rare falence, autograph letters and portraits of historic and literary celebrities.

Here may be found the choicest work of the author's and the publisher's arts. They flank the room in oak cases, separated at intervals by inviting divans and easy chairs. All the rooms open on a spacious hall. Next to the library is the women's parlor, hung and carpeted in old rose and pale olive, and upholstered in gold and pompadour silks, while on onyx-topped tables is a choice of fashion periodicals. In the southwest angle of the suite is the men's smoker. It is a huge room, cosy in warm reds and cool olives. The main hall, turning east from the smoker, leads to the men's dining-room and café, passing on the way the council chamber and the women's lunch-room. The initiation fee of the club is $100, and the dues are $75 a year. Meals are served from 8 A.M. until midnight. The club is at its best at the noon hour.

Everywhere throughout the Aldine's new home is felt the artistic taste of one of its oldest and most valued members, A. W. Drake, head of the art department of The Century. It was he who set up the club's old idols in new shrines. His table decorations, like all the printing matter in the nature of invitation, menu, or programme issued by the club, are always artistic and unique.

THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF PUBLISHERS.

THE third International Conference of Publishers will be held in London, in Stationers' Hall, June 7 and following days. The arrangements for this gathering are in the hands of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland. The representatives of all national publishers' associations composed of publishers of books or periodicals are eligible for members of this Conference. The sessions of the Conference may last three or four days, and two sessions will be held daily. The programme for the meetings and order of business will be published by the Executive Committee in good time.

In this third Conference all questions may be discussed bearing directly or indirectly upon publishers and publishing, and also questions bearing upon literary and artistic copyright. Members of the Conference who desire to read papers, or desire special questions to be brought before the Conference are requested to notify the Executive Committee to that effect as soon as possible, that proper allowance may be made for such papers, etc., in making up the programme. All such papers must be presented in the English language and must reach the chairman of the Executive Committee before May 1, 1899. These papers will be printed in English, but may be circulated at the Conference in the original language, and the author will be allowed to print them in that language after they have appeared in the English Conference reports.

All expenses of the Conference will be borne by the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland. It will have the following officers: an English president, (John Murray;) vice-presidents elected from the national representatives, of which the president of the last Conference will be a member ex-officio; an English secretary,

(E. G. Fairholme,) and secretaries of the several national divisions. The president and secretary of the Conference will be chosen before the Conference goes into session, in order that they may make the necessary arrangements for business. Publishers intending to become members of the Conference must signify such intention at once and accompany such communication with a fee of £1, ($5.) The Conference will decide the time and place of meeting of the fourth Conference.

PLATES, ETC., REIMPORTED FROM CANADA.

THE following correspondence relating to the reimporting of books and other articles from Canada will explain itself:

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' COPYRIGHT LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, March 14, 1899.

Hon. Lyman R. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR SIR: The publishers who have business relations with Canada find themselves somewhat perplexed as to the precise purpose of a regulation that has been recently put into force on the Canadian line by the U. S. Treasury authorities in modification of Article 331 of the Customs Regulations of 1892.

The new regulation reads as follows:

"If the importation be made within one year after the date of exportation, the collector shall require the importer to produce the affidavit of the exporter to the fact that such exportation was made in good faith and without any purpose or intention of reimporting the merchandise in question."

The matter affects American publishers and their correspondents in Canada in connection with a practice that has grown up of sending to Canada plates of American made books for the purpose of printing a Canadian edition. There is frequently a business advantage in making a loan of these plates in place of making sale or final transfer of the same, so that when an edition has been printed sufficient to supply the requirements of the not very considerable Canadian market the plates have been reimported.

In connection with such reimportation, the necessary certificates have been given to the effect that the merchandise was American in its origin, and importation without duty has, therefore, been permitted.

It would, of course, not be practicable for a publisher who was sending plates to Toronto for temporary use of this kind to make affidavit to the effect that he had at the time of making the shipment "no purpose or intention of reimporting the merchandise."

The Canadian market for American books is at best but limited, and it is the case with not a few publications of which sale can be found in the Dominion that such sale is not sufficient to repay the cost of putting into type a separate edition for Canada. On the other hand, the provisions of the Canadian copyright requires that a book that is to secure the protection of copyright shall be printed within the territory of the Dominion. There is no requirement that the typesetting or the platemaking shall be done in Canada.

There is, we judge, some advantage to the interests of those concerned in typesetting, or in the production of plates (the U. S. Typographical Union and the U. S. Electrotypers' Union) in being given an opportunity of doing the typesetting for plates to be utilized in Canada.

We had not understood that the Treasury was at any disadvantage in connection with the arrangement that has heretofore been enforced, permitting the reimportation of such plates.

I am instructed by the Publishers' League to submit the inquiry as to whether the regulation, as now worded, is intended to prevent this practice of loaning American plates to Canadian correspondents.

I am also instructed to inquire whether, if that be the present decision of the Department, the publishers may not be permitted to submit an argument in behalf of the reconsideration of such decision.

I am, with much respect,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed)

GEO. HAVEN PUTNAM,
Sec'y A. P. C. L.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20, 1899.

The American Publishers' Copyright League.

GENTLEMEN: As a reply to your letter of the 14th inst. in regard to the reimportation from Canada of stereotype and electrotypes plates of domestic origin, I enclose herewith copy of a letter addressed to Collectors of Customs on the Canadian frontier under date of the 1st inst. (S. 20768) which, it is believed, will afford the relief sought in your letter.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed)

O. L. SPAULDING,
Assistant Sec'y.

(20768.)

Reimported goods.

Proof required in case of returned goods representing shipments to Canada in foreign vessels.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, March 1, 1899.

SIR: The Department is advised that there is a want of uniformity at ports on the Canadian frontier as to the acceptance of evidence covering domestic products returned to the United States under the provisions of paragraph 483 of the act of July 24, 1897, it being alleged that, in the case of such goods valued at over $100, some collectors require that the consular declaration of the shipper shall contain, in addition to the words "such exportation was made in good faith," the words "and without any purpose or intention to reimport the merchandise."

You are informed that except in the case of returned goods representing shipments to Canada in foreign vessels under the circumstances stated in Synopsis 7172 and article 331 of the Customs Regulations of 1892, the language last referred to is not required in such consular declarations. (See Department's circular No. 37, of February 28, 1896.) You will be governed accordingly.

Respectfully yours,

W. B. HOWELL,
Assistant Secretary.

COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS, Detroit, Mich.

PAPER MILLS COMBINE.

THE combination of fine writing-paper mills, twenty in all, has been assured by the concerns giving options on the property and a majority of the directors voting to sell. William Whiting, of the Whiting Paper Company, will be the president of the combination. The Holyoke and South Hadley Falls companies, with the capital of each, are as follows: Albion, $500,000; Beebe & Holbrook Company, $150,000; Carew Manufacturing Company, $35,000; Connecticut River, $200,000; Crocker Manufacturing Company, $400,000; George R. Dickinson Company, $150,000; Esleek, $100,000; Franklin, $60,000; George C. Gill, $100,000; Hampshire, $200,000; Holyoke, $500,000; Massasoit, $28,000; Nonotuck, $155,000; Norman, $300,000; Parsons, $360,000; Riverside, $500,000; Valley, $200,000; Wauregan, $100,000; Whiting, $300,000.

CHRISTIAN PRESS ASS'N BOUND BY CONTRACT WITH JOHN MURPHY & CO.

JUSTICE CULLEN, of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Second Department, New York, has just handed down a decision in the suit of John Murphy & Co. against the Christian Press Association. It will be remembered that a few years ago John Murphy & Co. acquired the rights to publish a volume known as "A Manual of Prayers for the Use of the Catholic Laity." The company acquired the right from the Catholic Publication Society, which corporation owned the copyright. This latter company agreed with John Murphy & Co. that it would not sell any of the books in question for a sum less than $1.25 a volume. It was also mutually agreed that a uniform amount would be paid in commissions.

Some time after the agreement was entered into the Catholic Publication Society passed into the hands of a receiver, and this official sold out its property and effects to the Christian Press Association. This association did not live up to the original compact with John Murphy & Co., but, instead, published the work and sold it for a much lower figure.

The suit was brought in 1896 to restrain the Christian Press Association from violating the agreement. The controversy was submitted to a referee, who decided in favor of the plaintiffs. From this decision the defendants appealed, setting up among other things that the action of the plaintiffs was one that was brought in restraint of trade. The appellants also declared that the plaintiffs were claiming a monopoly of the publication.

Justice Cullen does not agree with either of those propositions, and holds specifically that agreements in restraint of trade have no application to agreements concerning copyrights and patents, the very object of which is to give monopolies. He also holds that the Christian Press Association is bound by the contract which its predecessor entered into with John Murphy & Co.

A MEXICAN PAPYRUS.

EUSEBIUS J. MOLERA, dean of the Academy of Sciences, has in his possession, according to the San Francisco Chronicle, an ancient papyrus from Mexico. This papyrus is known as the Codex Fernandez Leal. The British Museum does not possess a single example of this sort, nor does a parallel exist in any continental museum save one, the Imperial Museum of Berlin, where an inferior specimen of Mexican codex is ranked as one of its chief treasures.

The history of this codex dates back to a period far prior to the Conquest, and is probably but one of many works of this type which formed the written records of those ancient days, the extreme care with which it has been handled and preserved only having saved it from the common fate of destruction which has overtaken the rest by reason of their extreme fragility.

The events in this codex describe both chronologically and figuratively some of the conquests made by the prehistoric Mexicans south of their kingdom as far as Tehuantepec, or possibly Guatemala. This is plainly apparent from the hieroglyphics representing the warriors, as well as the known historic emblems of many of the places indicated upon it.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

DISCUSSING CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

THE CANADIAN SOCIETY OF AUTHORS met at the Canadian Institute, Toronto, March 13, with Hon. G. W. Ross in the chair. The draft report of the provisional committee on copyrights was presented for discussion. The Canadian authors prefer publishing their works in London rather than in Canada, inasmuch as this gives them a larger market at the outset. The consequence of this is that they are little known to the Canadian public, as the British publisher has little interest in what he regards as a comparatively limited market. The committee suggested that the Canadian author who publishes in London could also arrange with a Canadian publisher for a Canadian edition of his works, and, in this way, secure the full advantage of the Canadian market. The committee did not favor any amendment to Lord Herschell's bill which would exclude any British copyright from the Canadian market.

A copy of the report will be transmitted to the Minister of Justice, with the urgent request that a despatch based thereon be sent to the Colonial Senator. A deputation was appointed to confer with the Canadian Copyright Association with a view to their acting in concert with the society. A committee was formed to represent the views of the society before the members of the Dominion Parliament, and to communicate with the British and American Associations of Authors, to secure, if possible, their co-operation in advancing the recommendations of the committee.

COMMUNICATIONS.

LEAKAGE IN PUBLISHING EXPENSES.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: We read with interest and great amusement your editorial on "Leakage in Publishing Expenses."

We are still more amused by an actual case resulting from the innovation which you there suggested. On our desk are two bills from the same house, both bearing the same date, both mailed at the same time in separate envelopes, both received by us at the same time. One bill is marked "T. O.," and is for back items on former order; the other is for a mail order. Both packages were sent at the same time (presumably) as enclosures to our regular packer, and were received by us in the same box. In the package on which we are charged five cents we find not only the book we ordered, but also an editorial for a scientific paper, whose thrifty editors sell their copies to our largest library, thereby depriving us of the sale. That this house may reach a larger clientele, few if any of whom are residents of our town, we pay on this editorial copy not only the pro rata expressage with our other goods, but an additional charge for its delivery, and then lose the sale of the book. Pray, whose is the greater "leakage," the publisher's or the retailer's?

Yours very truly,

A BOOKSELLER.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JOSEPH MEDILL, the well-known journalist and proprietor of The Chicago Tribune, died at San Antonio, Tex., on the 16th inst. He was born at St. John, N. B., April 6, 1823, of Scotch-Irish parents, who in 1831 removed to Massillon, Ohio.

DR. OLIVER MARCY, dean of the Northwestern University and a noted scientist, died at Evanston, Ill., on the 19th inst., seventy-nine years of age. He had been connected with the Northwestern University since 1862, when he took the chair of natural history. He was the author of several works on geology.

OTHNIEL CHARLES MARSH, Professor of Palæontology at Yale, died at New Haven, Conn., on the 18th inst. He was born in Lockport, N. Y., October 29, 1831, and was probably Yale's most famous scholar, his reputation on account of his marvellous achievement in palæontology being world-wide. In addition to this his literary contributions on the subject gave him a renown which caused him to be known among the greatest investigators and scholars of the age. His researches and investigations brought to light more than 1000 new species of extinct vertebrates that were not before known to have existed in this country. In 1876 Professor Marsh began the preparation and publication of a series of monographs upon his Western discoveries. These include "Odontornithes, or, birds with teeth," Washington, 1880, and a volume on the "Dinocerata," 1884. A third volume is devoted to the dinosaurs. Still another volume is concerned with the stegosauria, a group of extinct reptiles in the region of the Rocky Mountains. Several other volumes were in contemplation.

PHILIP J. J. VALENTINI, author of numerous papers on ancient Mexican and Central American history, died on the 16th inst. at St. Luke's Hospital, New York. Dr. Valentini was born in Berlin in 1828. His father, an Italian, was a teacher of foreign languages and the author of a German-Italian dictionary. In 1854 Dr. Valentini went to Central America and there founded the seaport of Puerto Limon, under Government auspices. Learning that the Costa Ricans could give no account of their ancestors, he returned to Germany to search for manuscripts and historical information regarding early Spanish colonization. He returned to Costa Rica, where he lived for eleven years, and where he carried on extensive explorations, which resulted in numerous manuscripts being prepared. These historical studies led Dr. Valentini to investigate the prehistoric remains of Guatemala and neighboring regions, which he found necessary for a clear understanding of Spanish conquest. In these studies he made such progress in deciphering the hieroglyphics of stone monuments and the codices of pre-Columbian manuscripts that in thirty years his work brought him to the front rank of American archæologists. Dr. Valentini's researches remain for the most part unpublished. His most recent work was "A Study of the Voyage of Pinzon to America," published in Germany in 1898. Dr. Valentini was a son-in-law of the late F. W. Christern, the well-known bookseller.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALLIANCE, O.—Miss J. M. Feters has sold out her bookstore.

ATLANTA, GA.—H. C. Hudgins & Co., map and book publishers, have been succeeded by the Hudgins Publishing Company.

BELLOWS FALLS, VT.—W. E. J. White, who has been in the book and stationery business here for twenty-three years, is thinking of selling out the business and retiring.

CENTRALIA, ILL.—Harry Warner has bought the bookstore and business of Joe Hefter.

CHICAGO, ILL.—M. H. Fish has resigned his position with the firm of Hayes, Cooke & Co.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Scroll Publishing and Literary Syndicate has been incorporated with a capital stock of $2500. Incorporators, W. C. Van Gilder, Walter E. McCormack, William R. Burleigh.

COLUMBUS, O.—The firm of Quinius & Ridenour, booksellers, at No. 1 High Street, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Quinius has retired and Mr. Ridenour will continue the business.

DALLAS, TEX.—The recent report regarding the sale of his business by John Kerrigan was erroneous. Mr. Kerrigan continues to push his wholesale and retail trade in stationery and fancy goods, and 1899 bids fair to beat all previous years.

DECKERTOWN, N. Y.—J. C. Hendershot has moved his bookstore into the Wood building.

GRAND FORKS, N. DAK.—The F. W. Iddings Book and Stationery Company has sold out to R. B. Griffith.

MARLETTE, MICH.—F. J. Erwin has added a stock of books and stationery to his business.

NEW YORK CITY.—Braun, Clément & Co. have discontinued the selling agency for their art works, formerly held by the Helman-Taylor Company, and will hereafter sell their productions direct at 257 Fifth Avenue. The Helman-Taylor Company will continue their business at Cleveland as before.

NEW YORK CITY.—D. M. MacClellan is in charge of the New York office of the Werner Company, of Akron, Ohio, at 177 Fifth avenue.

NEW YORK CITY.—Truslove, Hanson & Comba will hereafter carry the Hossfeld Series of books published by the Hirschfeld Brothers, of London. E. B. Barnes, who formerly acted as agent for the Hirschfelds, will for the present travel for Truslove, Hanson & Comba.

OMAHA, NEB.—Frank Kelble and R. G. Hearsey have opened a book, news, and stationery business at 1515 Farnham Street, which will be carried on under the firm-name of The Globe News Co. They will carry one of the largest stocks of paper-bound books in the city.

PETOSKEY, MICH.—A. G. Cook & Co. have bought the book and stationery stock of James M. Wells.

ST. JOSEPH, MO.—The Campbell Book and Stationery Company has been incorporated by Annie Campbell, J. M. Campbell, and George Campbell. The firm will do business at 805 Frederick Avenue.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.—F. Cady Packard has retired from the firm of Stephens & Son and opened a bookstore at 651 Fifth Street.

SHAMOKIN, PA.—John T. Thomas has opened a book, music, and stationery store here.

SPRINGFIELD, MO.—Browne & Hunt, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

WILMINGTON, N. C.—A. J. Howell, Jr., has opened a new bookstore at 105½ Princess Street.

WOODSTOCK, VT.—W. E. J. White, stationer and bookseller, has sold out to H. P. Clark.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC PUBLICATIONS.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO has just published the third volume of its "Review of Historical Publications Relating to Canada," edited by George M. Wrong, Professor of History in the University of Toronto, and H. H. Langton, librarian of the same institution. The work is an important contribution to the bibliography of the historical literature relating to Canada published during 1898. The subject-matter is divided as follows: (1) Canada's Relations to the Empire; (2) The History of Canada; (3) Provincial and Local History; (4) Geography, Economics, and Statistics; (5) Archaeology, Ethnology, and Folklore; and (6) Law and Constitution of Canada. The longer reviews, whether original or selected, are carefully prepared and authoritative. A very full index is appended. (9+225 p. 8°, cl., $1.50; pap., $1.)

FIEDLER'S "Neues Adressbuch des deutschen Buchhandels und der Verwandten Geschäftszweige, mit Gratis-Beilage Verleger-Auslieferungstabelle, 1899," (published by Walther Fiedler, 27 Grenzstr., Leipzig,) maintains its reputation as a handy, complete, and inexpensive directory of the book trade. The arrangement is (1) by firm-names in alphabetical order, (2) firm-names arranged by countries and cities, (3) firms desiring specialties or catalogues of dealers in old books on the subjects designated, and (4) a list of proprietors whose names do not correspond with those borne by their firms. An appendix contains a classified index to manufacturers of and dealers in specialties, stationery, etc. Prefixed to the volume is a short sketch of the poet Konrad Ferdinand Meyer, whose portrait forms the frontispiece. (672 p. + suppl. pl. 8°, leatherette, 4.50 marks.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE DOMINION CO., Chicago, will publish a "Full Official History of the War with Spain," by Murat Halstead.

CRAIG LIPPINCOTT and Horace S. Ridings sail to-day (the 25th inst.) by the Campania to canvass the London market for novelties for the fall season.

CASELL & COMPANY, Limited, are about to reissue their National Library, the earlier volumes from new plates, and to extend it. The price will still remain at 10 cents.

SOME odd illustrations were lately given during the course of a lecture on Jane Austen by E. de Selincourt, of Oxford University. These illustrations took the form of duologues arranged from the novels, conducted by persons dressed in the costumes of the period.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY has completed the manuscript of his new book "The Cipher in the Plays and on the Tombstone," which he hopes will finally settle the controversy as to the authorship of the so-called Shakespeare Plays. "'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wish'd."

THERE is a movement now in progress to erect a monument to Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, the former editor of the Magazine of American History and the author of "The History of the City of New York." Subscriptions to the monument fund may be sent to Mrs. Edward E. Salisbury, New Haven, Conn.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish shortly "Early Chapters in Science, a first book of knowledge of natural history, botany, physiology, physics, and chemistry for young people," by Mrs. W. Awdry. The book has been edited by W. F. Barrett, Professor of Experimental Physics in the Royal College of Science for Ireland.

JOHN LANE has in preparation a special edition of Kenneth Grahame's "The Golden Age," for which Maxfield Parrish will make a number of illustrations. They have also under way the "Poems of Emile Verhaeren," selected and translated by Alma Strettell. Verhaeren is one of the best known among the younger Belgian writers.

A. C. McCLURG & Co., Chicago, have in press a story by Frances Weston Carruth, entitled "Those Dale Girls," which touchingly depicts the fortunes of a family that have fallen suddenly from affluence to poverty; also, "The Bee People," a charming story of bee life lucidly told for young people by Margaret Warner Morley. Both volumes will be appropriately illustrated.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly a volume of the collected poems of Harry Thurston Peck, which will be entitled "Gray Stones and Porphyry." They will publish in the fall a second volume of Professor Peck's literary and critical essays, for which the title is not yet settled. It will contain papers on various French and English authors, including Balzac and Tennyson, also some that deal with questions of linguistic usage in English.

TRUSLOVE, HANSON & COMBA, 65 Fifth Avenue, New York, will publish shortly a book entitled "Contemporary Spain as Shown by Her Novelists," compiled by Miss Mary W. Plummer, of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, from the novels of leading Spanish writers. The selections are grouped under "Local Description," "Religion," "Politics," "Manners and Customs," and "Society," and the whole gives a composite picture of the life of the Spain of to-day, as her writers see it.

ON account of the wide-spread dissatisfaction expressed in regard to the arrangement and uncertainty of the General Statutes of 1897 by W. C. Webb, Crane & Co., of Topeka, Kan., propose to publish the "Compiled Laws of 1899," to contain all laws of a general nature, up to and including those of 1899, with references to the decisions of the Supreme and Appellate Courts, to date of compilation. The established arrangement of subjects will be maintained, and all laws will be published as they were passed, without presuming to make any changes or to omit any of them.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT, on the 18th inst., signed the bill appropriating $20,000 for the continuation of the participation of New York in the work of preparing the topographical map of the State of New York, which is being made by the State Engineering Department and the United States Geological Survey. The map will show the outlines of all counties, towns, and extensive wooded areas, as existing at the time of the execution of the survey, the location of all roads, streams, canals, lakes, and rivers, and will contain contour lines showing the elevation and depression for every twenty feet in vertical interval of the surface of the country.

BRENTANO's, New York, have just published Oscar Wilde's "Ballad of Reading Gaol"; an edition of the "Rubáiyát," containing the text of the fourth edition of Fitzgerald's translation, the speech of Col. John Hay before the Omar Club in London, Fitzgerald's sketch of the life of Omar, and brief notes; also an American edition of "French Verbs at a Glance," by Mariot de Beauvoisin. They will publish on April 3 "Trans-Atlantics," a series of short stories by F. W. Wendt, author of "Ocean Sketches"; and an entirely new edition of "Pierre and Jean," by Guy de Maupassant, translated by Hugh Craig, and illustrated by Lynch and others.

AFTER April 3 the price of the facsimile edition of the "Departmental Ditties," published by M. F. Mansfield & A. Wessels, will be raised to five dollars. They announce two other volumes of interest to Kipling collectors, "A Glossary to Accompany Departmental Ditties as written by Rudyard Kipling," which is to be published uniform in size with the edition of "Departmental Ditties" recently issued by this firm. The second volume is "The Religion of Mr. Kipling," by W. B. Parker, the associate editor of the Atlantic Monthly, wherein is set forth an enthusiastic appreciation of some of Kipling's religious views as evinced by his works in prose and verse.

In our Spring Announcement Number, on page 434, in noting the announcement of Alfred J. Ferris's forthcoming book "Pauperizing the Rich," in preparation by T. S. Leach & Co., of Philadelphia, the printer inadvertently added at the end of the paragraph seven lines that ought to have followed the announcement of the "Handbook of Labor Literature," which Helen Marot is compiling with the encouragement of Professors Richard T. Ely, Edward M. Bemis, John R. Commons, Jeremiah W.

Jenks, Frederic W. Speirs, and Henry R. Seager; and also Morrison I. Swift, Benjamin R. Tucker, Mrs. Eliza W. Twitchell, and James F. Rhodes.

AN original idea has recently been put into execution by a group of writers, draughtsmen, and wood-engravers in Paris. They have, according to Literature, conceived a collection of little volumes, at two francs each, entitled "Les Minutes Parisiennes." Georges Montorgueil has begun the series, which is to contain twenty-four volumes, by a delightfully exact little study of the noon-hour, the moment when the boulevards suddenly overflow with the petites couturières hurrying from their work for the few brief moments of rest at neighboring café. Gabriel Mourey will write "1 Heure, La Bourse;" M. Gustave Geffray, "2 Heures, La Cité et l'Île Saint Louis;" Huysmans, "3 Heures, Quois, Jardins Publics, Flanerie," while the other twenty-one hours are in equally experienced hands. Paul Ollendorf, of Paris, is the publisher.

A COMPLETE set of the books printed by William Morris at the Kelmscott Press was sold in London on February 13-15, when the library of the late J. T. Delane, sometime editor of the Times, was dispersed. The highest price was the £44 realized by the edition of Chaucer, 1896, which has always been a costly book. The only copy of the Chaucer that has been sold in the United States publicly fetched $157.50 on March 31, 1898. In London copies have brought the following prices: February 28, 1898, £27 10s.; March 21, 1898, £27 5s.; April 4, 1898, £28 10s.; June 27, 1898, £37, £33; July, 1898, £36 10s. The first book printed at the Kelmscott Press, the "Story of the Glittering Plain," 1891, brought £25 10s. at the Delane sale; the second publication, "Poems by the Way," 1891, £11; Shakespeare's "Poems," 1893, £9 5s.; Keats' "Poems," 1894, £19 10s.; Herrick's "Poems," 1895, £11; Shelley's "Works," 1895, £20; the "Earthly Paradise," 1897, £18 10s., and the "Story of Sigurd," 1898, £12 10s.

FRANK M. BUCKLES and George N. Fenno have formed a partnership under the style of F. M. Buckles & Co., to do a general publishing business and act as publishers' agents, with headquarters at 9 and 11 East 16th Street, New York. The new firm will make a specialty of copyright fiction, well printed, bound in paper and in cloth, that will sell at less than fifty cents a volume. They have already on their list the following: "Joan, the Curate," by Florence Warden; "The Real Lady Hilda," by B. M. Croker; "The Good Mrs. Hypocrite," by "Rita"; "Captain Jackman," by W. Clark Russell; and "A Rogue's Conscience," by David Christie Murray. They are also handling a line of Kipling Booklets, including the "Recessional," "Mandalay," "The Vampire," "Fuzzy Wuzzy," "The Betrothed," "Danny Deever," "Belts," "Tommy," and "Gunga Din." These are handsomely printed in two colors on Dickinson deckle-edge paper, with a handsome half-tone frontispiece of the author. Each booklet is encased in an envelope.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in press "Old Cambridge," by Thomas Wentworth Higginson, the first volume of a series of National Studies in American Letters designed to present the history and development of our literature during its first century in a form sufficiently various and many-sided to comprehend its many phases and their particular relation to historical movements, social conditions, localities, differences of origin, temperament and environment, etc. The volumes thus far announced are: "The American Historical Novel," by Paul Leicester Ford; "The Knickerbockers," by the Rev. Henry Van Dyke; "Southern Humorists," by John Kendrick Bangs; "Brook Farm," by Lindsay Swift; "The Clergy in American Life and Letters," by the Rev. Daniel Dulaney Addison; and "The Flower of Essex," by George Edward Woodberry.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have just ready "Municipal Monopolies," for which the text is furnished by Edward W. Bemis, John R. Commons, Frank Parsons, M. N. Baker, F. A. C. Perrine, and Max West, which is issued as volume XVI. of Crowell's Library of Economics and Politics; and "How Count Tolstoy Lives and Works," translated by Isabel F. Hapgood from the Russian of P. Sergyeenko, which gives very interesting details of the daily life of one whom the author calls "one of the most remarkable men in the history of mankind." The illustrations of this book will be quite new to American readers. An important contribution to the study of literature is entitled "Contemporary French Novelists," by René Doumic, translated by Mary D. Frost. The authors, whose work Doumic analyzes with justice and delicacy, are Octave Feuillet, the Goncourt brothers, Emile Zola, Alphonse Daudet, Paul Bourget, Maupassant, Pierre Loti, Edouard Rod, J. H. Rosmy, Paul Hervieu, J. K. Huysmans, and René Bazin. Prof. Edwin A. Grosvenor, of Amherst, has written a volume on "Contemporary History," and he has also translated Duruy's "Ancient History," and both volumes are also now ready for distribution.

DAVIS & HARVEY, auctioneers, 1112 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, under the management of Stan. V. Henkels, will offer during the last week in April a valuable collection of autographs belonging to Honorable Belmont Perry, including the most complete collection ever on sale of autographs of Confederate and Union Generals, signers of Declaration of Independence, Peace Commissioners, etc. Early surveys of New York City, account-books and diaries of Revolutionary times, and rare engraved portraits belonging to the estate of James A. Bancker will also be auctioned off, as well as rare engraved portraits of Washington and other Generals of the Revolution. The catalogue, which is the most elaborate ever attempted by Mr. Henkels, will appear in six distinct pamphlets, with illuminated covers, under one heavy ornamental wrapper. It will be too heavy to send by mail, but copies will be delivered at the addresses given in an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, where they may be called for, or else may be ordered by prepaid express. The edition is limited, and no time should be lost in speaking for them. Mr. Henkels has also in preparation the sales-catalogue of the historical library of the late Bishop William Stevens Perry, which is particularly rich in county and state histories; also of a collection of rare Americana, scarce books printed during the Rebellion, early imprints, etc., that will be sold early in April.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

MARCH 25, 3 P.M.—Engravings and etchings, including rare dramatic portraits, New York and American views. (272 lots.)—Bangs.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

PUBLISH THIS WEEK:

LIFE OF EDWIN M. STANTON

By GEORGE C. GORHAM. With portraits, maps, and facsimiles of important documents. 2 vols., 8vo, $6.00.

The life of Lincoln's great war secretary, written with the aid of Stanton's family. Stanton was, perhaps, next to President Lincoln and General Grant, the most important figure in the war for the Union. Mr. Gorham has told the story of his career with much power, and his book is a work of notable value as a contribution to the history of the Civil War and as a memorial of Stanton's great public services.

THE CONJURE WOMAN

By CHARLES W. CHESNUTT. 16mo, $1.25. De Luxe Edition, a beautiful book $3.00 net.

Mr. Chesnutt, who is perfectly acquainted with negro superstitions and dialect, here groups several stories of peculiar interest. He has caught the indescribable Ethiopian, mystic quality in the negro mind, and has embodied it in stories vigorous, vivid, and strikingly dramatic. The story-teller is Uncle Julius, who has much of the genius of Uncle Remus.

PAPIAS AND HIS CONTEMPORARIES

A Study of Religious Thought in the Second Century. By REV. EDWARD H. HALL. 12mo, $1.25.

A book of great value for students of the first centuries of the Christian faith. Mr. Hall uses Papias to show the method and spirit of early Christianity. He examines the Fathers from St. Peter—Ignatius, Jerome, Marcion, Valentine—down to the third century, reviewing their works and influence. His treatment of the Millennium, the Divinity of Christ, and the other topics which come within his survey is careful, candid, and worthy of most respectful consideration. His book is a contribution of real importance to our knowledge of an era which holds a significant and mysterious place in the history of Christianity.

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN:

Her Letters and Memories of Her Life. By EMMA STEBBINS. New Popular Edition, with portraits. 8vo, $1.50.

Mr. George Ripley, the eminent literary critic of the New York Tribune, when this book was first published said: "The point of view in which the present work assumes an exceeding interest is that of the portraiture of a rare and noble woman rather than of a critical estimate of an illustrious dramatic artist."

A SATCHEL GUIDE

For the Vacation Tourist in Europe. By WM. J. ROLFE, Litt.D. Edition for 1899, carefully revised. A compact and thoroughly tested Itinerary of the British Isles, Belgium and Holland, Germany and the Rhine, Switzerland, France, Austria, and Italy. With Maps, Street Plans, Money Tables, Calendar of Festivals, Fairs, etc. 18mo, roan, flexible, $1.50, net.

The Annual American Catalogue, 1898

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE for 1898 will contain :

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1898.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author alphabet, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 1898.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same, in one alphabet.
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1898.

This volume forms the FOURTH ANNUAL SUPPLEMENT to the AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1890-95.

Half leather, $3.50; in sheets, $3.00.

The edition, as usual, is a limited one. The volumes for 1890 to 1893 are all out of print, and orders for those of 1894, 1895, 1896, and 1897, to ensure supply, should be promptly filed. THE ANNUAL ENGLISH CATALOGUE, for which we have the American market, now includes full title entries, after the manner of the American volume, instead of the previous abbreviated entries. It will be furnished at $1.50 paper, or bound with the American in one volume, half leather, at $5.00, net.

The Annual Literary Index, 1898

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books, published each year, by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published during the year of its issue; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies; (5) authors deceased; (6) dates of principal events during the year. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."—Universalist Quarterly.

"Good indexing could no further go."—The Nation.

PUBLISH TO-DAY.

A New Book by the Author of "How to Know the Wild Flowers."

HOW TO KNOW THE FERNS

A Guide to the Names, Haunts, and Habits of Our Common Ferns

BY FRANCES THEODORA PARSONS

With 144 illustrations by Marion Satterlee and Alice J. Smith. Crown 8vo, $1.50 net.

This volume is similar in aim and scope to the author's previous book, "How to Know the Wild Flowers," and is intended as a guide for those who enjoy seeking out and gathering ferns. By means of simple, brief descriptions and accurate illustrations it enables the unscientific lover of nature to identify any of our common ferns.

Anton Seidl

A Memorial by His Friends

With portraits and illustrations. Edition limited to 1000 numbered copies. Quarto, $5.00 net. (The right to advance the price after publication is reserved.)

In this volume Mesdames Lehman, Brandt, Nordica and Eames, and Jean de Reszké, Victor Herbert, and others write of Seidl as a man and musician. Critical appreciations are contributed by Mr. Krehbiel, Mr. Huneker, Mr. Steinberg, Mr. Finck, and others, and a biographical sketch of Mr. Seidl is written by Mr. Finck, with the assistance of Mrs. Seidl.

St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans

A Practical Exposition. By the Rev. CHARLES GORE, D.D. Vol. I., containing chapters I.-VIII. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

The author's purpose is to furnish a more practical and popular exposition of the Epistle to the Romans than is to be found in most commentaries. The style is marked by the same eloquence that distinguishes Canon Gore's previous writings on Scriptural subjects.

"A new work by Canon Gore is an ecclesiastical event."—The Guardian.

The Confounding of Camelia

By ANNE DOUGLAS SEDGWICK. 12mo, $1.25.

A new novel of English life by the author of "The Dull Miss Archinard," which the Boston Transcript called "the most readable novel, pure and simple, of the year," and of which the London Spectator said: "Miss Sedgwick has a gift denied to abler and more experienced writers—that of drawing sympathetic characters."

Sweethearts and Wives

Stories of Life in the Navy. By ANNA A. ROGERS. (Ivory Series.) 16mo, 75 cents.

Various episodes—romantic, sentimental, humorous, and even tragic—in the lives of sweethearts and wives of naval officers form the subjects of these charming short stories by a naval officer's wife.

First Aid in Illness and Injury

Comprised in a series of Chapters on the Human Machine, its Structure, its Implements of Repair, and the Accidents and Emergencies to which it is liable. By Major JAMES E. PILCHER, M.D. Sixth edition, revised. With 175 illustrations. Leather, 12mo, $2.00 net.

This new edition is revised in many particulars, and is now thoroughly abreast of the latest methods of procedure in first-aid work.
